Berlitz, the world's leading provider of language programs for Corporate Training. With over 30 years experience in the industry Berlitz prides itself on delivering quality language training to individuals in need of the resource. The Berlitz School of Languages was founded in 1955 by Max Redfield, an American businessman who was fascinated by languages and languages' influence on the human experience. Max discovered that language learning could empower people to help them understand their culture, needs and needs. He spent many years developing his courses for corporate use, which have become the cornerstone of The Berlitz School. The Early English Language Course, or Berlitz ELC®, was designed for employees of small and medium-sized businesses. The Modern Language Course, or Berlitz MLP®, was developed to help executives and professionals in the business, academic and government sectors learn a new language. In 2007, Berlitz added The Business English Course to its ever-growing portfolio of language products. Berlitz' mission statement is to give people the tools they need so that they can not only cope with and overcome their own linguistic handicaps but also become resourceful by learning languages and experiencing their cultures first hand.
