He was the best sniper in the world. There were two wars in his career, Afghanistan and Iraq: he killed a few hundred people and he killed a few hundred people. Because of his reputation, he was accepted into an elite SEAL sniper squad, and with his skills he was sent to Iraq. He was no ordinary sniper. He was a killer. And he killed many. He killed a dozen, he killed two, he killed three, he killed four... He was the best, the best in the world. He was the best sniper.
