What's New In?

With RM Recorder you can record RealPlayer streams into files saved to your PC, using a variety of different methods: manual URL insertion (automatic mode), file list selection, or using the "add files" feature to automatically record any files currently opened in your RealPlayer browser. Using the program is easy: just enter your desired streaming URL into the dialog, or select one of the files displayed in the list. You can then set the file name, and the options for encoding the streams: MP3, MPEG, or WAV. After pressing the "Start" button, RM Recorder will use the selected file name to locate the appropriate file or URL, and begin recording immediately. Multiple files may be recorded simultaneously. When you record the stream, RM Recorder will detect the URL (or web address) and stop recording when the stream is finished, preserving the original streaming time and allowing you to view the incomplete file in RealPlayer without interruption. This feature can be enabled or disabled according to your preferences. The recording can be paused or restarted at any time - even when it is already completed. RM Recorder allows you to view the already-recorded URL or selected file in RealPlayer, which will automatically start playing the stream again as soon as you have finished downloading it. You can then use the "stop" and "pause" buttons to regulate the recording speed. RM Recorder has the ability to work with a large number of network protocols, including HTTP and RTSP streaming protocols, and there is no need to worry about differences in speed or quality: the streams will be saved using whichever protocols are set as default. You can choose the format in which to save the files - MPEG, AVI, or WAV. RM Recorder is also able to automatically recognize a selected file, and enable the user to play it in RealPlayer, without the need to specify a URL. Finally, you can select a destination directory for the recorded files using the "save to" feature. You can even save all the recorded URLs to a single file. We tested the program on several Windows PCs and found it to be reliable and user-friendly. RM Recorder - One of the best programmes for recording audio and video streams. Features: Save RealPlayer streams to files with different formats (WAV, AVI, MP3, MPEG). Use a method to automatically open the URL in RealPlayer when it's saved. Split or merge recorded files.
