Stop audio for a defined time, in frames or when the volume changes. The MAX_PLAYING_FRAMES parameter defines the number of frames the stop operation should apply. Use 0 (or let the system define a value) for a stop action that is triggered by audio volume changes. If you want the frames to be defined in a range, use the MIN_PLAYING_FRAMES and MAX_PLAYING_FRAMES parameters (without the frame step). The MIN_PLAYING_VOLUME and MAX_PLAYING_VOLUME parameters define the range of volume at which a change should be detected. Use MIN_VOLUME and MAX_VOLUME to specify a range of a half-step. The MIN_VOLUME_FRAMES and MAX_VOLUME_FRAMES parameters define the number of frames in the volume range that should be detected. You can define all of the parameters manually or use the COMBO_FUNCTION to let the system choose for you. More info about the MAX_PLAYING_FRAMES parameter: • If the number of frames is 0 or the system chooses a value for you, the mute function applies whenever the volume changes. • If the frames parameter is greater than 0, the mute function applies every MAX_PLAYING_FRAMES frames. • If the frames parameter is lower than 0, the mute function applies every MAX_PLAYING_FRAMES frames. The MIN_PLAYING_VOLUME parameter: • If the MIN_VOLUME parameter is set to 0, the mute function is triggered whenever the volume changes. • If the MIN_VOLUME parameter is set to a value higher than 0, the mute function applies whenever the volume changes. • If the MIN_VOLUME parameter is lower than 0, the mute function applies whenever the volume changes. The MIN_VOLUME_FRAMES and MAX_VOLUME_FRAMES parameters: • If the MIN_VOLUME_FRAMES parameter is set to 0 or the system chooses a value for you, the mute function applies whenever the volume changes. • If the MIN_VOLUME_FRAMES parameter is set to a value higher than 0, the mute function applies every MIN_VOLUME_FRAMES frames. • If the MIN_VOLUME_FRAMES parameter is lower than 0, the mute function applies every MIN_VOLUME_FRAMES frames.
