

FIFA 22 will be released on September 29th in North America and September 28th in Europe. "HyperMotion Technology generates a more responsive and immersive FIFA experience," said Christian Ruckel, executive producer for FIFA, in a statement. "With the combination of this new technology and improved AI and data, we now offer players a much deeper and more immersive experience – and at the same time, they feel more connected to the action on the pitch." The new technology – which is the first addition to FIFA's core gameplay since FIFA 15 – builds on the same "unique data-driven engine" that powers a host of other EA SPORTS games, including Madden NFL, NHL, NBA, and UFC. "It's a very complex challenge to bring the game's unique physics engine and physics-based animations to life," said Matt Bilbey, FIFA senior producer. "Over the past years we've been able to leverage our data to continually improve and refine our engine. This is essentially what helped us port the game from 2K's completely new engine to a more evolved engine – and now to FIFA 22." The HyperMotion feature, which is only available in FIFA Ultimate Team mode, combines data from FIFA Ultimate Team and FIFA 20 to "provide players with additional game information and visual feedback to help them succeed in the game." "Our goal with FIFA Ultimate Team has always been to provide players with an unrivaled experience," said Alex Morra, executive producer at EA SPORTS. "With the new HyperMotion technology, FIFA Ultimate Team players will be able to learn more about their favorite players, resulting in a deeper and more immersive experience." Among the enhancements introduced in FIFA 22: FIFA Core Engine. FIFA's core gameplay engine has been redeveloped from the ground up, with improvements to gameplay physics, animation, ball control and AI. This includes a breakthrough in the unique data-driven technology that powers both FIFA and EA SPORTS FIFA. This core gameplay engine is used in every EA SPORTS title released by EA. FIFA Player Motion. Players will now be able to experience the "real" FIFA player in full and high-definition. This includes knowing how hard and low a player is to control in different game situations. This will affect whether a player is controlled on the ground or in the Features Key:

- Live in "The World of Football" with authentic ball physics- The most authentic ball physics to date, making soccer feel weighty and responsive. Throughout FIFA 22, the ball behaves as it does in real matches, its flight path and behavior conditioned by a variety of situational factors including speed of play, surface type, wind, precipitation, altitude, and ball size.
- More player realism than ever before- Player models are now fully integrated into the FIFA sport simulation engine, delivering quicker ball control and quicker all-new animations while highlighting each player's strengths, weaknesses, and movement with clearly identifiable animation sequences. More visual information is now available for each player than ever, providing a level of detail and accuracy players have never had before.
- A number of new players are included on 12 new teams, including the first appearance of ex-Manchester United player Cristiano Ronaldo.
- Improvements to Recreator Motion Anchors capture - An area of the body is always best visible on-screen, making it easier than ever to make highly accurate inputs. Players' own movements are now analyzed to make their abilities more accurate than ever before.
- Command changes - Take your time to master an area of the game: A connection has been re-established between shooting/passing and controls.
- Anecdotes throughout the Visual Impact Engine (VIE) - Scenes which appear on TV, highlight reels, printed newspapers and online are included, filmed from various angles and contexts.
- Live events can now be made live on television screens- Headline level events can now be seen live on TV screens, which will impact gameplay.
- Recorded game animations are immediately available to watch at any time - Live recording during play, with all key player goals, saves, and substitutions highlighting any play which happens at any time, giving players complete control over what is created and how it is shared.
- Top Premier League scorers include Zlatan Ibrahimovic and Cristiano Ronaldo. The Big Ten International XI now includes Lionel Messi, Neymar, and Luis Suarez.
- Brand-new, never-before-seen clubs in all of FIFA 22's game modes. From the new, free-to-play, social game, FIFA Ultimate Team, to the new Pro clubs, The Journey

EA SPORTS FIFA puts you in control of the world's top football clubs. From the biggest stars to the smallest local teams, FIFA's rosters feature more than 700 players to take control of. Play through all 24 official leagues, featuring authentic stadiums, squads, and kits. What's New in FIFA 22? Gameplay FIFA 22 features fundamental gameplay improvements such as smarter AI, more chances for offensive players and improved ball flight. AI makes more intelligent decisions, such as better handling of the ball, positioning, and timing, while crucial to a solid game, meaningful coaching decisions such as when to sub and when to send off players will now create a more tactical approach. Goalkeepers are more responsive while tackling, making them a constant threat. Movement is improved, the ball is now easier to handle, passing is more accurate and the ball flight is more intelligent and stable. These features were implemented based on months of play testing with world-class athletes. There are several gameplay enhancements in Ultimate Team. For example, when building a squad, you can now choose to play with selected previous and current FIFA players. In addition, Free Agency mode has been extended to include overseas players, and the Face of Fame mode will unlock a complete squad of players with 100 points, including 100 bonus points earned for being featured in the Ultimate Team Hall of Fame. With more than 600 community-created Ultimate Team content, FIFA Ultimate Team has now reached its peak. More than 250,000 licenses and 1.9 million Credits have been accumulated. Customisation The Ultimate Team card system has also been expanded. With more than 50 new cards, and over 100 new packs available, you can now get a real sense of the game's depth and endless possibilities. Users can also go one step further with Ultimate Team by creating customised virtual cards, which can be deployed in free mode matches or in any Ultimate Team card game against real people. EA SPORTS FIFA 22 also includes the introduction of the First Touch Control Co-op and Online Pass. In collaboration with 343 Industries, Inc., Xbox One exclusive First Touch Control will allow players to join their friends on-line and continue to play together through enhanced in-game notifications and a new reward system. The online pass is now available for purchase, allowing you to gain access to a number of new features and content, such as personalised online leaderboards, match replays and more.
