For the first time in its history, EA SPORTS FIFA is adding celebration animations to a core gameplay system. Goalkeepers can perform different combinations of kicks, punches, headbutts, jump kicks, diving headers and more to celebrate goals. FIFA 22 introduces and introduces a new Coaching Plus mode that allows coaches and players to develop the game to their liking through in-game signings and manager identity. Coaches can set the difficulty level, place restrictions on the type of players players can sign, assign more players to specific formations, and more. The improved player manager gives coaches complete control over roster management and allows them to assign players to any formation they choose, as well as manage the team's morale with individual morale meters. Along with the extensive roster update, every mode in FIFA is receiving new gameplay features and updates, including a brand-new mode dedicated to eSports fans, the Ultimate Team Championship, new player animations and attributes, and a new set of gameplay modes and features for FIFA Ultimate Team. Worldwide Update Schedule on Nintendo Switch on PlayStation®4 and Xbox One Additional Notes On Xbox One, FIFA 22 is also available for purchase via the Microsoft Store. We've also been able to confirm an update is on the way to those on Windows 10. PlayStation 4 players will be able to access FIFA 22 on the PlayStation Store.
