Dreamweaver for web designers and developers If you know HTML, you can create and edit HTML/CSS pages with the assistance of the Dreamweaver features. Just let the program do the hard work for you. You can even turn text and graphics into web pages. Dreamweaver is a web design software program that lets you create and edit HTML and CSS from a single application. To create and edit HTML, CSS, and the Flash multimedia capabilities of the website you create, choose File⇒New to create a new page, or choose the New Document command on the Windows taskbar menu. You then can choose File⇒Save As, type the name of the document, and choose the location for the new document on your computer. If you do want to use Dreamweaver to create and edit a web page without an HTML background, be sure that the file format for the file is ".html", and not some other filename format. Click the File Format box in the New Document window and choose ".html", or you can choose the HTML File Format selection from the drop-down menu. Dreamweaver creates a ".html" file type for you and automatically creates a web page when you save your file. In addition to creating and editing HTML pages, Dreamweaver enables you to create and design forms, upload files, and manage your site's CSS style sheets. Dreamweaver is available for both Mac OS and Windows computers. The following sections explain how to start designing and creating HTML/CSS pages with Dreamweaver.

Primetime Emmy Award for Outstanding Supporting Actor in a Comedy Series The Primetime Emmy Award for Outstanding Supporting Actor in a Comedy Series is an award given as part of the Primetime Emmy Award for Television to individuals who have been awarded for their performances in a supporting role on a comedy series. Before the year 2000, it was commonly referred to as the "Supporting Actor in a Comedy Series", in which case the category included both lead and supporting actors. It is one of the most respected acting awards in television. The award was first presented in 1967 to Harry Morgan in an episode of The Mary Tyler Moore Show, as the first of the three Emmy nominations that year. The award has been presented to four different actresses in this category: Joanne Dru (1970), Celia Ricker (1983), Olympia Dukakis (1988), and Darlene Love (1990). Six actors have won this award more than once: Morgan, Will Geer, Carl Reiner, Gwen Verdon, Lillian Gish, and Charles Durning. Morgan has won more of these awards than any other actor in the category. . eight actresses have received nominations in this category, and one has won. Glenn Ford is the youngest winner, at the age of 73. Cher is the only female winner, winning twice. The most recent award was presented at the 67th Primetime Emmy Awards on September 18, 2019, to Tony Shalhoub for his role as Detective Lester Freamon on the show, The Wire.
